Chehad Nourai

With a passion for flying since childhood, Chehad Nourai is a true global aviation expert, having lived and worked in aviation in a number of countries during the course of his career. After obtaining his Airline Transport Pilot License in the Netherlands, he joined the Air Force and served for 22 years as a Pilot with diversified responsibilities in team management, flight operations, and leadership duties.

Post his military career he has been a consultant specializing in Business Aviation assisting start-ups to build and expand their business focusing on operational excellence and consulting with high-net-worth individuals and large corporations about their private travel needs.

Chehad's approach centers on integrity, efficiency, and excellence.

FLY PRIVATE WITH FLEWBER

At Flewber, our staff has been serving our customers' private jet charter needs for over two decades. Our goal is to supply ultra-luxurious or "Luxe" jet charters in tandem with the highest degree of safety standards. Our trained and professional team at Flewber works hard for your business and our greatest reward is your next request for a charter flight.

That's why we approach every charter request as an opportunity to exceed your expectations and provide a level of service that you not only deserve, but one that is synonymous with the Flewber brand.

FLEWBER

SAFETY FIRST

Safety isn't just a cliché at Flewber. With every private charter you book, flight safety is a mandated tenet of our operations. Our team will only use private charter carriers that meet and exceed the highest degree of Wyvern & Argus safety standards. Wyvern and Argus are aircraft safety consulting and auditing firms that provide an independent rating system for aircraft operators around the world. When you book your next private flight with Flewber, you'll know that we are putting you first by putting safety first.

PEACE OF MIND

Our management team at Flewber are more than just the innovators who brought the private air charter industry the first true on-demand regional air taxi app. We are also innovators who believe that we can have an impact on improving the environment.

When you book your next private charter flight, you will be able to do so with an environmental peace of mind.

We are dedicated to purchasing the most energy efficient jets for our fleet in the coming years. At Flewber, we are always looking for new ways to “Innovate”, “Improve” and “Impact” the private air charter industry.

BUSINESS TRAVEL

Business stops for no one. And neither should you. Flewber provides Wi-Fi, telephone and boardroom facilities to help you stay connected and make the best of your time whilst in the sky. By using Flewber, you can liaise with associates and clients anywhere in the world, and you can meet them at a time and date that suits you.

Whether it's just you, or a large group of businesspeople, Flewber can arrange a domestic or international flight with only 2 hours notice.

LEISURE TRAVEL
